

North Vancouver Recreation & Sport Facility Planning Project overview

The North Vancouver Recreation & Culture (NVRC) Commission provides recreation, sport and arts programs, and supports community sport on behalf of the City and District of North Vancouver.

NVRC is leading the creation of a Recreation & Sport Facility Plan. The plan will help the City and District make decisions related to the development, maintenance, and operation of outdoor and indoor facilities.

The Recreation & Sport Facility Plan will be developed based on a thorough program of research.

A variety of research will be undertaken to develop the plan. This includes:

- An inventory of outdoor and indoor recreation and sport facilities.
- An analysis of the utilization of the facilities.
- Examination of the demographic composition of the City and District and how it has and is expected to change.
- Compilation of leading practices and trends in facility provision.
- A comparison to other jurisdictions.
- A thorough program of community engagement.

The community engagement will include a survey of households and residents; a survey of organized groups that use recreation and sport facilities; and, discussion sessions and interviews with a variety of individuals and groups in the community.

The Recreation & Sport Facility Plan is expected to be completed in late 2023.
